

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates. The cable ownership cap is a crucial element of our democratic media, and it should not be weakened.

I think it is a dangerous precedent that would be set by this loosening of FCC/Cable rules. If the rules are loosened, that would open the door for domination of the media by a select, few, large conglomerates. There are already problems with certain media conglomerates and their not-so-subtle biasedness when it comes to their parent companies. Keeping the cable ownership cap ensures diversity of what's available and limits the power of the larger conglomerates over the public. Please DO NOT loosen the rules!
